SPEAKER'S BIO

FULTON MIKLOS
COMMISSIONER
FEDERAL MEDIATION AND CONCILIATION SERVICE

Fulton Miklos is a Commissioner in the Pittsburgh, PA field office of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service (FMCS), serving since 2000. Commissioner Miklos has mediated labor disputes in numerous industries including health care and long term care, basic steel and manufacturing, hospitality and gaming services, retailing, and utilities. He has also mediated fair employment cases for the U.S. Postal Service and numerous Federal agencies. He regularly instructs employers and unions in the establishment of labor-management committees, joint workplace initiatives, collective bargaining and contract administration.

Prior to his appointment with the FMCS, Commissioner Miklos was employed as the Manager of Employee and Labor Relations at Equitable Resources in Pittsburgh. In that role he was the Company's chief spokesman during labor negotiations with the United Steelworkers of America, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and the Paper and Allied Chemical Employees in both Pittsburgh and throughout the Appalachian region. He also represented the Company in matters before the EEOC, PHRA, DOL , and other regulatory bodies. Before joining Equitable, Commissioner Miklos was an associate with the labor law firm of Hogg, Allen, Ryce, Norton and Blue in Coral Gables, Florida.

Commissioner Miklos is the current chapter president of the Laurel Highlands Labor and Employment Relations Association. He is also active in the Allegheny County Bar Association (Alternative Dispute Resolution Committee and the Labor and Employment Law Council). He has presented at labor-management conferences, on both national and local levels.

Commissioner Miklos received his J.D. from Duquesne University School of Law. He also earned a Master's degree in Industrial Relations from St. Francis College, Loretto, PA and a Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics from the University of Pittsburgh. He has been admitted to the Florida and Pennsylvania Bar.
